

SUNGPIL HWANG, E.M. Hwang & Partners, KR

Sungpil Hwang is a managing-partner/patent-attorney at E.M.Hwang & partners. He graduated from Yonsei University in Korea and has been working for 13 years as a patent attorney. Currently, he is studying to gain a master's degree at KAIST and studying law at the Northwestern Pritzker School of Law. He has been working closely with many global companies, and he is also active in the business of startup incubating and accelerating. In 2018, he was named the president of AIBLR, a company whose mission is to research AI and blockchain technology, supported by the professors at Seoul National University and experts.